Farrar Hall cooperative living units located in the Quadrangle Complex are unique apartment-like living options, housing ten (10) same-gender students. Each community has a furnished kitchen, dining room, living room, and bathroom. The expectation for co-op residents is to maintain healthy and safe living environments. Inspections may be conducted regularly of the co-op community spaces. Failure to comply with acceptable standards may result in loss of co-op privileges, loss of priority for re-application for a co-op, or community sanctioning.

There are five furnished double rooms within each co-op; the room rate for Farrar Hall co-op double rooms will be published by the Residential Life department once room rates for academic year 2012-2013 have been finalized.

Through the (re)application process, residents may choose their roommates in the co-op. If the application is approved by Residential Life, it is expected the residents will follow through with their commitment to live in the co-op. If vacancies occur after the application deadline, Residential Life retains the right to assign students to those empty spaces without additional input from co-op residents.

Residents currently living in a co-op must have ten applicants to be considered. If residents in a current co-op are not granted a co-op for the following academic year, residents will be considered “displaced” in terms of the room assignment process.

Reapplication decisions will consider Priority Status (from Co-op Point system) and essay responses regarding living-learning expectations of co-ops.

New co-op applications (defined as students not currently living in a Farrar Hall co-op) should have at least ten applicants to be considered. Consideration of new co-op applications will be given based on housing occupancy and the re-application process. Current co-ops with good standing will be given priority.

New application decisions will consider essay responses and priority status calculated by factoring members’ number of semesters lived on campus and current housing location (Non co-op Farrar residents >> Quadrangle Complex residents >> other on-campus students >> off-campus students).

Applications may only be open to current Missouri S&T students currently enrolled. No first-year students or incoming transfer students may be used as list placeholders.

This application is due to the Quadrangle Complex office located in Kelly Hall by 12 pm Central Time on Friday, February 24, 2011. Farrar Hall Cooperative communities for academic year 2012-2013 will be announced by no later than 4:30 pm on Friday, March 4, 2011 via e-mail. Applicants who are not approved will receive notification by no later than 4:30 pm on Friday, March 4, 2011.

Residents selected for a Farrar Hall Cooperative community will be removed from further room selection processes by Residence Life. Residents will need to electronically sign the housing terms and conditions and sign up for a meal plan for academic year 2012-2013 online once the 2011-2012 housing assignment has been made.

Accepted Co-ops who have students change plans (switch to another complex, move off campus, leave the institution) for 2012-2013 academic year may have all students re-assigned, allowing a fully committed co-op to be assigned.
Part 1. Proposed Co-op Contact
Each co-op is expected to maintain an official “co-op contact” throughout the application process and housing term. The Residential Life and Quadrangle Complex offices may use the co-op contact when issues arise such as co-op occupancy, community standards, and community development. If the current co-op contact moves out of the co-op, a new co-op contact must be established within 2 business days. His or her information must be e-mailed to the Quadrangle Complex Resident Director. Complete the co-op contact information below.
