

VOYAGER

Voyager is a one-year residential learning community for first year students at Missouri S&T. The Voyager program helps new students adjust to college life by providing a community in which students live together and learn together. Voyager students will:

- Live together in Thomas Jefferson Residence Hall
- Share similar academic experiences in and out of the classroom
- Develop a connection with the Missouri S&T campus
- Have opportunities to get involved on campus & in the community
- Engage in opportunities to interact with faculty outside of the classroom
- Participate in activities that promote the development of leadership skills
- Develop skills for academic success and personal growth

The Voyager Commitment

To be part of Voyager, students must be enrolled in any two of the following courses: Chemistry 1, English 20, Psychology 50 or any freshman math class (Math 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 12, 14, 15 or 21). Students with AP credit in these courses are also eligible to participate.

Programs and activities designed specifically for first year students will offer Voyager participants a comprehensive introduction to the Missouri S&T campus. Examples include an introduction to campus resources, where and how to become involved, and academic success strategies. Activities are intended to help you have a memorable residential experience while making new friends and succeeding academically.
